

The Adventures of...

Peggy and Bertie Blackwell

Episode 6

Gardening and Ground Maintenance

We are pleased that normal grass cutting services have resumed now the rain has gone. Miss Kuriger has bought us a larger run and we like to catch up with Hazel, Olive and Ivy in the breaks between nibbles.

Oh dear...

I was a bit naughty this week. I ate the VE Day bunting and part of the photo of Miss Kuriger's grandad when she wasn't looking. It actually tasted quite good.

Art Peggy and I are very much looking forward to seeing your art soon. I have set up my own art gallery. This is my favourite. The artist has been very realistic. That leaf looks good enough to eat.

Numeracy We have been using an egg box to learn our number bonds.

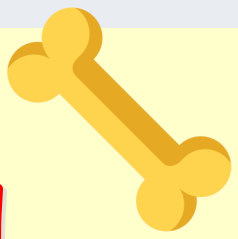

Guineas are good at subtraction because we can just eat the pieces.

Telling the Time This is tricky! I prefer 'breakfast time', 'second breakfast time', 'snack time', 'lunch time...'

The Adventures of... Hetty Blackwell

Episode 6

History

Last week I did a bit of learning about VE Day.
We had a nice little celebration.
I liked the buffet best.

Science

I have been trying to identify these animals. They look a bit like me but they don't bark. I wonder what they can be.

P.E.

Finally a sport I think might suit me just fine - walking! This is my kind of walk. Can you see that I am putting in my best efforts?

Creativity

I have been using my free time to test out a new look. I call this 'Lockdown Locks'. Not only is it an incredibly stylish look, it is also practical because I can now see where I am going.
